is a fair example of the handiness of a fitted travelling bag. The articles take up the minimum amount of valuable space, and there is no chance of anything being forgotten.

Birks travelling bags are of the finest and sturdiest leathers, and the fittings are arranged compactly and conveniently. It would be difficult to think of a more practical and useful gift.

E. W. BEATTY NEW MCGILL CHANCELLOR

Released by Queen's, Is Successor of Sir Robert Borden.

NEW ARTS DEAN.

Dr. Gordon J. Laing, From the University of Chicago, Succeeds Dean Moyses.

The new Chancellor of McGill University, the president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has come to us from Queen's University, where he has been Chancellor since 1919. The Board of Governors of Queen's University has released him following negotiations with them in order to succeed Sir Robert Borden. The Governors of McGill gave out yesterday that his resignation had been tendered in 1920.

The Board of Governors' official announcement states:

"The new chancellor has been a member of the governing Board for some years, and, when in 1919 the Queen's chancellorship became vacant, he was, with the consent of the McGill Board, selected to succeed the late Dr. James Douglas. When the McGill chancellorship in turn became vacant, through the resignation of Sir Robert Borden, Mr. Beatty was invited to accept it, and, at subsequent joint conferences of representatives of the two boards, Queen's University generously and unanimously approved the arrangement. Mr. Beatty in the meantime remained chancellor of Queen's."

"The fortunate outcome of the negotiations between Queen's and McGill is due to a very generous recognition by each of the other's problems and an appreciation of the fact that both, as institutions of learning, have ideals in common."

Mr. Beatty graduated in arts at Toronto University, and studied law at Osgoode Law School, being called to the Ontario Bar in 1901. In the same year he became an assistant in the Law Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, being advanced to the post of assistant solicitor in 1905. He became general solicitor in 1910, and general counsel in 1913. To the latter post he added that of vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, a director of the Bank of Montreal, and of the Royal Trust Company, and a trustee of the Royal Victoria Hospital of this city. He was born in Thorold, Ont., in 1887.

The appointment of Dr. Gordon Jennings Laing, at present Senior Professor of Latin in the University of Chicago, to the Deanship of the Faculty of Classics at McGill, was another important matter announced after the meeting of the Board of Governors yesterday. In the capacity of Dean of the Faculty of Arts, Dr. Gordon succeeds Dr. Charles E. Moyses, who, after many years' service to the University, retired from active work at the close of the session 1919-20. As head of the Department of Classics, he succeeds Dr. John MacNaughton, who, in the spring of 1919, resigned from the post, which he held for some years.

Dr. Laing is a Canadian, having been born in London, Ont. He is a graduate in Arts of Toronto University, and holds a Ph.D. degree from Johns Hopkins University. He studied in the American School of Classical Studies in Rome during the year 1886-7, and has since occupied various posts in colleges and universities, having been for a time lecturer in Greek and Latin in the University of Toronto, and at Bryn Mawr, and instructor and later assistant and associate professor, and now professor of Latin in the University of Chicago. During the year 1911-12 he was a professor in the American School of Classical Studies in Rome.

In addition to these posts, Dr. Laing has been managing editor of the "Classical Journal," associate editor of "Classical Philology," and general editor of the University of Chicago Press. He is a vice-president of the Archaeological Institute of America. Dr. Laing will take up his new post at McGill next January.

YOUR POOR VOICE AS AN ASSET TO MCGILL

The Centenary Re-union plans call for a choir, and male voices will be needed in large numbers. Not trained voices, or good voices—just voices. That will be an easy enough job for seventy-five or a hundred men. A couple of practices will complete the necessary preparation, and the part played in the Re-union will be pleasant and by no means unimportant.

Don't hang back, if you are willing to accept this opportunity to help the students' end of this great festival. There will be many there beside you, and singing old McGill songs in the open is good fun.

There will be a practice in the R.V.C. Common room next Thursday evening at 8 p.m.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR UNVEILING ARTS TABLET

Governor-General Will Probably Officiate.

DATE CHOSEN.

Artistic Production Crowns Efforts of Two Years' Campaign.

The executive of the Arts Undergraduate Society have practically completed the final arrangements for the unveiling of the Memorial Tablet in honor of the undergraduates, graduates and members of the teaching staff of that Faculty, who saw service in the Great War.

For the past two years the members of the Arts Undergraduate Society have been assessed an annual contribution of one dollar to meet the excessively heavy costs of such a durable form of memento; while, thanks to the efforts of Mr. J. W. Jenkins, the many graduates of the Faculty have also been approached. Substantial contributions were received from many unexpected quarters. In consideration of his standing as an honorary L.D. of McGill, Rudyard Kipling sent an unsolicited cheque for fifty dollars from his home in England.

As a result of these combined efforts the Memorial Tablet, which will shortly be placed in position in the entrance hall of the Arts Building, is in every way a worthy tribute to the memory of those who served overseas. The Robert Mitchell Co., who were entrusted with the casting of the tablet, give it as their opinion that in point of artistic worth and perfection of detail the Arts tablet may be ranked with the very best of their work. The memorial was designed by Mr. McIvor, a student in the department of Architecture, whose submitted design showed traces of a fitness of conception absent from the efforts of more experienced professionals.

The unveiling ceremony has been fixed for ten o'clock on the morning of Thursday, the thirteenth. In the matter of those to officiate at the ceremony itself the executive of the Arts Undergraduate Society appear to have been most fortunate. Sir Arthur Currie, who will give the address, has undertaken to ask His Excellency Lord Byng of Vimy, to unveil the Memorial Tablet, as the latter will arrive that morning to receive an honorary degree at the special convocation.

Coming as it does in the very middle of the Centenary celebrations, the unveiling of the tablet in the Arts Building is expected to be a pivotal point about which the activities of the countless Arts graduates will centre. These, together with the students now enrolled in the Faculty should tax the somewhat circumscribed capacity of the hall to the utmost.

Iowa freshmen will again wear the green caps. The tradition started last year will be continued, according to Barney Dondore, president of the Howling 300, and all first year men will be expected to secure the little class caps by the first Tuesday of college.

NEW C.O.T.C. COMMANDER

Sixteen McGill Men Pass War Office Exams.

Attestation has commenced for the McGill Contingent of the C. O. T. C., and to judge from the good start made, recruiting is going to be brisk. General Sir Arthur Currie, G.C.M.G., K.C.B., LL.D., has been good enough to accept the Hon. Colonelcy of the unit, and sent the following letter to Major D. H. Macfarlane, M.C., who commanded the unit at the time:—

Principal's Office,
McGill University,
Montreal,
Sept. 22, 1921.

Dear Major Macfarlane: I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of a communication dated June 27th, 1921, in which a notification appeared that my appointment as Honorary Colonel of the Canadian Officers' Training Corps of McGill University has been approved. As I intended to you personally, I appreciate very much the honor which such an appointment carries.

I hope the Officers' Training Corps of this University will in the near future become a very important part of University life. I believe most firmly in the postulate that a man's first duty to his country is to be willing to defend it in time of peril. The time spent by our students in preparing themselves to act as leaders of their fellowmen, should it ever become necessary for Canada to take up arms again, is not only time well-spent, but I consider it a duty.

With all good wishes, I am,
Ever yours faithfully,
A. W. CURRIE,
Principal.

The principal object of the C.O.T.C. is to train gentlemen as leaders of men, so that they can command soldiers. This means that, in addition to being trained physically (efficient membership of the C.O.T.C. excuses men from attending the Gymnasium) of taking part in the other activities of the Department of Physical Education, if they wish, they are trained mentally as well; initiative coupled with discretion, strength of character and will-power, rapid recognition of a number of facts, and quick comprehension of the meaning of those facts being a few of the requirements of a good officer.

Last year sixteen candidates from the McGill C.O.T.C. passed the British Empire War Office examination, their names appearing elsewhere, and as the questions are the same for the whole Empire, being set and corrected at the War Office in London, we can appreciate the good work effected last year under Major D. H. Macfarlane, M.C. The official comment on the papers was as follows: "The standard of the work presented by the Canadian candidates was on the same level as that submitted at home." Major Macfarlane cannot find time to carry on any longer with the command, so that this has been taken over by Lt.-Col. R. R. Thompson, M.C., who is Asst. Professor of Accountancy in the University.

Fortunately for the McGill C.O.T.C., Major Macfarlane is staying on as second-in-command, and the contingent will benefit accordingly, as all know what good work he has done. The new O.C. is known to be keen on outdoor work, and as the services of Regular Instructors of this Military District have been placed at the disposal of the McGill C.O.T.C., it is confidently hoped that the session will be thoroughly interesting to everyone, and that the McGill Contingent will be the largest and smartest in Canada or anywhere else.

NEW APPOINTMENTS.

McGill, has already made a signal addition to her already large list of famous names. According to the announcement made by the Board of Governors yesterday, E. W. Beatty, K.C., President of the C.P.R., has been appointed to the Chancellorship, and Dr. Gordon S. Laing has been appointed Dean of the Faculty of Arts, which positions were left vacant by the resignations of Sir Robert Borden and Dr. Charles E. Moyse, both tendered in 1920. The University is very fortunate in securing able men to fulfil these important positions, which have been open for a year.

Mr. Beatty is well known to everyone in Canada. He has had a very brilliant career since his graduation from Toronto University and Osgoode Law School, rising rapidly to his present position as executive head of one of Canada's greatest corporations. His appointment is due to the successful outcome of negotiations entered into with Queen's University, of which he is also Chancellor, the Governors of the latter University unanimously approving of the new arrangement. Mr. Beatty has been a Governor of McGill for some time, and it was with the consent of our board that he became Chancellor of Queen's, who are now repaying the courtesy.

Dr. Laing, though coming from the University of Chicago, is a Canadian, his native town being London, Ontario. He graduated from Toronto University and took his Ph.D. degree at Johns Hopkins. He then made studies abroad, after which he filled various positions in universities, finally becoming Senior Professor of Latin at Chicago. In addition to becoming Dean of the Faculty of Arts, he will also become head of the Department of Classics, succeeding in that position Dr. John MacNaughton, who resigned in 1919. Dr. Laing is well qualified for this post, for in addition to being a great scholar, he has been associated in a prominent way with several classical magazines in the U.S.A., and is vice-president of the Archaeological Institute of America. He will take up his new position next January.

In every way the choice of the Governors seems to be most wise, and they appear to have picked the men best qualified to fill the vacant posts.

EDITORIAL NOTE.

Those individuals who have the unpleasant habit of criticizing athletics by stating that the athletes are poor students, would find very little comfort in reading the results of the examinations as far as the McGill senior rugby squad is concerned.

All of the players who were regulars on the senior squad last season have completed their years by passing all of their examinations. This is a record to be proud of, and it would appear that the coach need not worry about losing his players because they have a poor scholastic standing.

SYRACUSE HAS HEAVY LINEUP

Six Speedy 200-Pounders With Americans

According to all reports of the Syracuse eleven, McGill will not have a light time of disposing of them on November 5th.

There are six 200 pounders on the American team, and one of these rings in 233 on the scales. Next in order is the 225, and three slimmer ones at 207, 209, 250, 1-2 and 203. If weight is the only factor that counted the McGill squad might just as well consider themselves badly beaten now. Fortunately, however, the new rules demand more skill and less brute force.

The game is gaining considerable publicity in the States, and the international feature should give added impetus to the interest on the other side of the line. Syracuse is one of the most enthusiastic sporting centres in the States, and will furnish an aggregation well worthy of the mettle of Slag's huskies in speed and science.

THE NELSON LOOK

The United Service Club is one of London's famous clubs in Pall Mall for officers of the twin British services, the navy and the army. Busts of naval and military heroes adorn the hall. Wellington with his stately and aristocratic look gazes down on members as they pass through the main entrance. Honesty, pride, and dignity are written there. But a head of Nelson at the side is more interesting. Each side of the face is modeled differently, so that the impression of a man of the world is given as you look at the portrait from the left, and of a dreamer as you look at it from the right. In the one case the modeling is firm, in the other soft. Even the eyes, for both are shown, are different. The bust is a replica by the famous English artist, Flaxman; the original of which is in possession of the family.

BURSAR'S OFFICE HAS A GODSEND

Complete Renovation Much Needed—Modern Appearance

One of the best sights which meets the eyes of McGill students when they return to college this fall, is the complete transformation which has taken place at the Registrar's office. In former years the old and inadequate quarters of the busiest people at college during the opening days of the college term, has been the bane of all people who have to go there on any mission.

About the middle of August work was in full swing. Plaster was flying about; carpenters and every type of workman making life for the staff, somewhat of an unbearable task, but even the ladies at the desks in those offices will agree that their temporary drawbacks were worth while. Now that the alterations are nearing completion one glance will give the visitor a pleasant surprise. The old corridor which once separated the Bursar's office from that of the Registrar's, is a thing of the past. The long open hallway is an unspeakable improvement, with the two long counters on either side. One of the most unpleasant things about the opening days of college, was the fact that one had to stand in a queue and not know what was going on in front, or just when one's turn would arrive. The Freshman this year has the advantage over his predecessors; he can at least see what is going on, and in a measure see the amount of business that the people engaged in those offices have to perform.

The office of the principal is no longer on the ground floor, but is to be found on the second floor, amidst a number of changes equally as splendid. The secretary of the Graduates' Society has also changed his room. He will in the future be on the second storey at the top of the stairway. This activity at the "sanctum sanctorum" of McGill is one of the many changes which are to be carried out in the near future. If the Arts and Law Building are going to be renovated on a similar scale, probably next fall worthy workshops will be ready for students, where "Electric Lights" will not be such an outstanding luxury as in the recent past of these two faculties.

PROMINENT PHYSICIANS TO LECTURE

'Dangers of Venereal Diseases' Is Topic

MOTION PICTURES

Illustrated Addresses Will Be Given on Friday Afternoon Next

A lecture on the dangers of venereal diseases will be delivered in the large hall in the Union on Friday next, October 7th, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The lecture, which will be accompanied by moving pictures, is given with the intention of having all the male students in the college present, or as many as the hall will hold, and everyone should make it a point to attend.

The moving pictures will be explained as they progress, and in addition, short addresses will be given to the students by Doctors Desloges, Patch and Chipman. These three physicians are among the leading specialists in the country, and it is an opportunity that should not be missed to hear them talking on a subject with which they are thoroughly familiar.

Last winter a similar lecture was given in the Union, and the hall was unable to accommodate the large crowds of students who were present. The pictures to be shown this week will include all of these exhibited last year, with the addition of several more that are every bit as interesting and instructive.

The campaign which is being waged by the Health Department of the Province of Quebec against venereal diseases has met with support on all sides, and has proved of immense value in the education of the people of the province. The authorities at McGill have co-operated with the Provincial authorities in order to get the motion pictures and lecturers before the students and, as a result, the men at the college have an opportunity that is granted but few to become well informed on a subject of the greatest importance to everyone.

The lecture is of paramount importance to the freshmen at this time of the year. Many of the men coming up to college for the first time have never had an opportunity to learn about many things relative to the proper way of keeping strong and healthy. To these men especially an invitation is extended to be present on Friday afternoon.

RECEPTION PROGRAMME PROMISING

Principal to make First Speech of Season.

8 P.M. AT HALL.

Special Orchestra, Speakers and Refreshments are Features.

To-night freshmen in Arts, Law, Dentistry and Theology are to have the first reception of the year, which takes place in Strathcona Hall at 8 p.m. This occasion, which is an annual affair, is a splendid opportunity for new men to meet their fellow students, get acquainted with the various collegiate organizations, and enjoy the hospitality of the S.C.A.

The speakers of the evening will represent the several faculties concerned, the Students' Council, and leading college bodies. Sir Arthur Currie has promised to be present to deliver his first address to McGill students this fall.

Prof. MacKay and Prof. Tait will speak for Law and Arts, while Errol Amaron is to represent the S.C.A.

R. L. Hamilton, the well-known runner, has willingly agreed to speak a word on Athletics at McGill. Besides these several five minute speeches an orchestra will be on hand to furnish music, and last year's rooters' leaders will stimulate with a few yells.

Refreshments have been looked after by "Jim" Ross' committee, which is doing its utmost to make this function as successful as possible.

In previous years the Hall has been filled at the receptions. This year as great a number as in the past is anticipated. To older men at McGill this invitation is extended, trusting that they will turn out in force to help make McGill's new-comers welcome.

For to-morrow night a special programme is being prepared for Medicine and Science.

Some freshmen have the opinion that this is a well arranged plot of the "Sophs" to get them while in a body. It is an unwritten law that students attending will not be molested on these occasions.

MANDOLIN CLUB STARTS SEASON

First Practice This Evening.

The Mandolin Club got away to an excellent flying start yesterday afternoon, when the first meeting of the club in the lounge room of the Union to elect officers for the coming session, and to outline a policy for the club. As a result of the voting the officers are:

President—C. H. Fraser.
Vice-President—E. Sherrard.
Secretary—R. C.

These men are all old members of the organization, and their knowledge of what should be done to make the club the season, a fair turmoil gathered go, coupled with their enthusiasm, ought to presage a successful season.

It was decided to try for a good many engagements this year, last session being rather a failure as far as this end of the club was concerned. But things will be quite the other way this year, and as a result the members will acquire a good deal of experience in handling their instruments.

It was also decided to get to work at once and a first practice will be held to-night at Peate's Studio, St. Catherine St., from 7.15 to 8.15, and every Tuesday night for a month at the same hour, after which practices will be held only once every two weeks.

It is hoped that several new men will come into the club this year. There are quite a lot of mandolin players around McGill, and they ought to give the club the benefit of their talent. The requirements do not call for a large knowledge of the instrument, and almost anyone who can play the mandolin at all will be able to get along all right. The club furnishes good experience and invaluable training, especially to a comparative beginner, at no cost whatever to the members, and these attractions should prove sufficient for anyone.

It is intended that the club should furnish the music for several of the college functions in the near future. So that all who possibly can are urgently requested to turn out to-night in order to get in as much practice as possible before playing in public. The music will probably consist of good swinging marches and waltzes interspersed with the best of the latest popular songs.

Gentleman (at the door): "Is May in?"

will do everything possible to accommodate everyone who comes to the lecture. Last year the hall was filled to seat everyone who attended. Every inch of available space in the hall will be used to seat the students on Friday, and it is hoped that no one will be disappointed by being unable to see the pictures and hear the lecturers.

VACANT JOBS BUT MEN NOT EMPLOYED

"In regard to the prospects of the Department of Social Service for the session 1921-22, I scarcely know what to say," said Mr. J. Howard T. Falk, the Director, when interviewed by The Daily on Saturday. "As yet we have had very few applicants for full courses and they are from fields as far apart as Menominee, Mich., and Port Arthur, Ont. There is one position in social service vacant in this city which commands a salary of $3,500 upwards per annum. Other vacancies are the headship of a Settlement, the headwork of a Hospital Social Service Department, and the secretaryship of a Relief Committee. Men are preferred for the first two, and women for the latter two. The workers, however, are not available.

The Director was asked whether all the students who received diplomas last year had received positions, or could any of them fill the positions vacant in Montreal. He replied that these were not easy to fill, and by analysing that of the General Secretary of the Family Welfare Association, which is vacant through the resignation of Mr. John B. Dawson, he clearly showed the difficulty of the task.

"The General Secretary has to select, perhaps train, and in any case adapt a staff of about fourteen to four different departments: case work, records, employment and finance. He has to supervise the work of receiving dozens of new applicants for assistance each week, and of attending to the needs of several hundred families already under his care. He has to try to educate his Executive (and I say 'try' advisedly) and any volunteers who may want to help. He has to see that a budget of from $50,000 to $80,000 a year is raised for the work, with also the general publicity on his shoulders. Last, but not least, he is expected to occupy a position of leadership in social work in the city, and speak on public platforms or before legislative committees at any time on almost any social problem."

Mr. Falk stated that there were three essential conditions to the establishment and satisfactory conduct of a school for training social workers. These must be: 1, a good laboratory for field work, i.e., the community must possess up-to-date, well-equipped agencies and institutions; 2, an efficient teaching staff; 3, a demand for the product of the school. Continuing, the Director said: "During the last three years, Montreal has much improved as a laboratory. Old agencies whose work was a positive menace to the welfare of the community have been made over, and new agencies have been brought into the field. The teaching staff is as strong as could be expected in a city the size of Montreal, and in its present condition. The demand for the product of the school is the factor which reveals the peculiar situation.

"A first-class and well-trained executive will constantly improve the work in hand and develop it to meet new demands. A group of such executives in a community will see to it that agencies are promoted to work in undeveloped fields of service. Our Montreal agencies are practically at a standstill, and in some cases have recently gone back owing to financial difficulties, and the most obvious fields of effort are left untouched.

"In a city where housing conditions are shocking, and tenement inspection is conspicuous by its absence, there is an urgent need for a housing association. In a city where there is more open trade in vice than in any other of the Dominion, a Juvenile Protective Association is imperative."

Mr. Falk was asked whether he thought a satisfactory solution could be reached. He replied in the affirmative, but was reticent to commit himself at present. "I am confident that these great difficulties can be overcome. I will discuss plans for a betterment of general conditions in a few days, after the University is in full swing once more."

JEST TALKS.

Oh! you thoughtless student, stop And go not on so jolly;
How can you wend your merry way, And me so melancholy?

Nowhere in this wide, wide world, Is heart so sad as mine,
For it has been two years or more Since I last wrote a line.

Far from the gridiron's noisy throng I've come to meditate;
Away from students' halls and porches, Where banjos syncope.

Now other scribes can write and write,
Their task is not a bore. And I can't think of one small thing That's not been said before.

Slowly rising from the desk, No lot's so hard as mine,
The colium will be pretty punk, I cannot write a line.

REGISTRAR GIVES OUT STATEMENT

Registration Smaller Than Last Year.
SCIENCE LARGEST.
Only 100 Freshmen Accepted in Faculty of Medicine.

The registration figures for the current session at McGill are slightly smaller than those of last year. The present list is, however, not complete, only the freshman year in Arts and Commerce being given.

The Faculty of Science is the only faculty that has increased greatly its number of undergraduates. Last year there were 666 students in regular science courses, this year the registration is 750.

There were only 100 freshmen allowed to enter Medicine this year, and out of the large number of applications, one hundred with the highest qualifications were chosen. The first year Arts' registration this session to date is 160, compared with 158 in 1920-21.

Following are the figures given to the "Daily" late last night:

ADDITIONS TO STAFFS ARE MANY

Many New Faces on the Faculties
SOME RETIRE
Arts Science and Medicine Announce Changes for Year

The Arts Faculty profits this year by several important additions to the staff.

Prof. Basil Williams, who held the position of Ford Lecturer in the University of Oxford last year, has been appointed professor in the History Department. Prof. Williams is author of biographies on William Pitt and Cecil Rhodes, both of which works are recognized authorities.

The Ford Lectureship which Prof. Williams held last year at Oxford is filled each year by some historian. The Master of Balliol and other eminent historians have held the position in the past. Prof. Williams served with distinction in the late war as a major in the Artillery; he also saw service in the South African war.

The vacancy in the History Department caused by Dr. Colby's resignation has been a difficult one to fill, and the appointment of so thorough a scholar as Prof. Williams will be welcomed by all those interested in history at McGill.

In the School of Commerce, Mr. R. R. Thomson, A.C.A., M.C., has been appointed lecturer in Accountancy, and Prof. Herbert Tait, M.A., B.Sc., lecturer in Mathematics.

Mr. Thomson was in business in the north of England as a chartered accountant prior to the war. Soon after the war broke out he enlisted with the First Battalion, 5th Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders. He served with this regiment throughout most of the war, in Gallipoli, Sinai Desert and Palestine. He held the rank of captain and adjutant, gained the M.C., and was mentioned in despatches.

Since the close of the war he has been organizing accountancy work in the army at the Scottish Command Headquarters. He has accepted the invitation of Sir Arthur Currie to assume command of the McGill C.O.T.C. apart from his duties in the School of Commerce.

Prof. Herbert Tait, M.A., B.Sc., who is to lecture in Mathematics, comes to McGill with an enviable record. He obtained his B.Sc., first class, from the National University of Ireland, is a Senior Moderator, a double Gold Medalist and Brooke Prizeman at Trinity College, Dublin. The last-mentioned is one of the highest honors awarded at Trinity; it is tenable for five years and confers important privileges upon the holder.

Prof. Tait has been assistant professor of Physics at the University of Cork, Senior Mathematics master at Kilkenny College, and also held the same position at Portora Royal School—the first public school in Ireland.

There have been a number of important changes on the staff of the Faculty of Applied Science. Dr. Physics, is now Macdonald professor of Physics, Dr. A. S. Eve remaining director of the Physics Building. Dr. J. Austen Bancroft, Dawson professor of Geology, was granted a year's leave of absence and is at present assistant manager of the big Granby Copper Smelter at Anyox, B.C. During his absence, Dr. H. C. Cooke, a Canadian geologist of repute, is acting professor of Geology. Major Charles M. McKergow, M.Sc., associate professor of Mechanical Engineering, has attained the rank of professor and head of his department. R. de L. French, C.E., formerly a lecturer, is now a professor of Highway and Municipal Engineering. Drs. Otto Maass and G. S. Whitby, assistant professors of Chemistry, Dr. Charles T. Sullivan, assistant professor of Mathematics, and Henry M. Lamb, assistant professor of Civil Engineering, were promoted to be associate professors in their respective departments. Dr. H. W. Hatcher, who graduated as a Ph.D. last spring, has joined the Department of Chemistry as an assistant professor.

The Faculty of Medicine has suffered a distinct loss in the resignation of Dr. A. D. Blackader, senior member of the Faculty and professor of Pharmacology and Therapeutics, and of Pediatrics. Dr. Blackader, one of the most eminent physicians in the Dominion, joined the Medical staff of the University thirty-eight years ago, and had held the chairs from which he has resigned since 1891. As emeritus professor he will still be attached to the Faculty. Dr. H. G. Barber, assistant professor of Pharmacology at Yale University, has been appointed professor of Pharmacology with a seat on the Faculty. Dr. Stehle of the University of Pennsylvania, will act as assistant professor in that department. Dr. D. A. Shirres, lecturer in Clinical Neurology, has resigned. The sudden death of Dr. W. H. P. Hill, demonstrator in Clinical Surgery, caused deep regret in the Faculty, where he was most popular. Returning from a trip to Plattsburg towards the end of July, Dr. Hill was stricken with heart disease and died at the wheel of his car on St. Catherine St.

RUSTOMJEE WILL SPEAK AT MCGILL

Indian Lecturer Talks at R.V.C. on Monday
'NEW ERA IN INDIA'
Conditions in Far East to Be Described to Students

Rustom Rustomjee, former editor and proprietor of the "Oriental Review," Bombay, India, will deliver a lecture on the New Era in India, in the Royal Victoria College on Monday, October 10 at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

In his lecture he will narrate the history of the evolution of responsible government in his country, starting from the Council of India Act, in 1861, and culminating in the Government of India Act of 1919, which Rustomjee considers to be a masterpiece of British statesmanship. As he contends to have found a continent with three times the population of North America, torn as it was in pre-British days by internal strife and a constant prey to foreign invaders since the beginning of the Christian era, and then to have transformed it, within three generations into a well-governed commonwealth of Indian nations, is an achievement without parallel in the history of mankind.

Rustomjee will also describe the economic, social and educational progress India has made under the British administration of the country. Knowing the country intimately as he does his lecture should prove to be of great interest to every student of the government of the British Empire.

At the present time the government of India is a topic frequently discussed owing to the publicity given to the events which have taken place there in the past few years. The opportunity to hear a man who has first hand information about the conditions of the country should not be missed.

It is quickly apparent that Rustomjee is a staunch advocate of British Rule in India. The object of his lectures is to justify the method of conducting the government of the British possessions in the Far East. Living under a system of government that has proven eminently successful as far as the Dominion is concerned the people of Canada will be especially interested in the problem of another part of the Empire.

QUEEN'S, 43; R.M.C., 1.

Queen's University football team walked away from the R. M. C. aggregation in their exhibition game last Saturday by the score of 43 to 1. This year Queen's made a much better showing than for some time past, and the feature of the last game was the running of the back line. The line for the Scottish University is also very heavy, and in all probability Queen's will make a much better showing in the Inter-Collegiate games than they have in the past few years.

HONOUR SYSTEM

Operation of the honor system in all examinations in Cornell University is now in force. The enforcement of the code is vested in committees elected from the several schools and students are expected to report violators of the rules. In order that all may understand the workings of the system booklets have been prepared explaining the various provisions. These have been distributed to the student body and placards announcing that the system is in force have been put up in each classroom.

HARRIER CLUB HAD SPLENDID TURNOUT

In Spite of Yesterday's Weather, Had Good Run.

Despite the mist and rain of yesterday afternoon, several new men turned out with the harrier squad at the Stadium at four o'clock, for the first hike of the season. This event brought much satisfaction to the harrier club, as these coming marathoners showed remarkable endurance and keen interest in this phase of college sport. Much doubt existed earlier in the autumn as to the quality of runners which McGill could count on in the distance events; but so far some of our best men are at present dark horses, being freshmen.

The route of yesterday's cross-country run was over a somewhat newer course than in previous years, and so planned that men less conditioned than others could take "short cuts" and yet keep up with the main leaders.

The distance was about two and a half miles in total, starting from the Stadium the students went down Pine Avenue, over Fletcher's Field to the site of the old Incline Railway; up the steps to the mountain road, following along to the Redpath Serpentine. The finish down Pine Avenue to the starting point was at a brisk but not hurried pace, having practically all those who commenced finish in a body.

The next run of the harriers will be from the Stadium at 5 o'clock on Wednesday, when a large number is expected.

The new students, including several freshmen, were:
K. S. Wade
Cliff Holland
F. Campbell
C. Connor
F. Murphy
Wiggins
Bishop.

ROOSTER'S BAND

Bandsmen—anyone who can play a horn, flute or any band instrument, is requested to be on hand to-night at 5.10 sharp, at the band room, McGill Union. Chub Lebaron, Rooter's band leader, will be on deck, and this, besides being an organization meeting, will give him an idea of what talent he has at his disposal.

There are some instruments on hand belonging to the band, but anyone who has a band instrument of his own, bring it along.

It is hoped that all last year's bandsmen will be out to help things get going, and that the new men will also turn out in numbers.

"SHAG" PICKS A TRAINING TABLE LIST

McComb Brothers Only
Freshmen Chosen

SEVENTEEN INCLUDED

Practice Game With M.A.A.A.
Saturday, Behind Closed
Gates.

The first signification from Frank Shaughnessy about the personnel of the senior rugby team this fall was given yesterday, when he made out a list of the men who were to be sent to the training table. The majority of the men chosen by the coach were players from last year's team, but there are a few additions.

The McComb brothers have the unique honor of being the only freshmen to go on the training table. However, they are not the only new-comers to catch places with the senior squad, as both Amaron and "Sandy" Ross are men who were not seen in McGill uniforms before this season.

In all, there are seventeen players chosen by the coach as the nucleus of the team, and from the showing made by most of them there is no doubt but that they will be seen in uniform in some of the big contests.

Anderson, Flanagan, Little, Russell, Philpots and Carroll are the half-backs who are making good, according to the coach's selection, all of them being regulars from last season, with the exception of Philpots, who starred on the second team. The line men who are among the few selected ones are Baillie, Lifshin, McGregor, Ambridge, Parsons, Murphy and Notman.

The fact that these men were sent to the training table does not mean that they are sure of catching places on the team. As a matter of fact, there are generally several additions to the squad as the season progresses, as well as some losses in their numbers owing to the fact that the men are not capable of keeping up with the first team.

From time to time within the next few weeks the men who are making good will be sent to the table and will be able to listen to the courses of lectures that are always given by the coach during the rugby season. Now that Shaughnessy has started the weeding-out process it is very likely that he will spend a great deal of his time in the perfection of the plays to be used this season. Dr. Turner addressed the team at the first meal, last evening, and was heartily applauded at the conclusion of his remarks.

A practice game will be played between McGill and M. A. A. A. to-morrow afternoon behind closed gates. "Shag" is anxious to try out the new plays which he intends to use this season, but he does not intend to show them to the scouts of other teams before his team lines up for the first intercollegiate games. The eyes of all the rugby enthusiasts in Canada are on McGill's football mentor, as it is well understood that he will lead the way in utilizing the new rules as far as possible to the benefit of his team.

No amount of practicing will reveal the defects of a team as quickly as a game against a strange team, and this is the main reason for the game to-morrow afternoon. The plays to be used against "Varsity" will be tried out and any faults in the way the players carry out their formations will be rectified.

AFTER TWENTY YEARS.

The new Song Book which will appear for sale on the tenth of this month, will be required by every undergraduate many times before the session is over. It is expected that the very fact that we shall possess once more an up-to-date and judiciously selected collection of our songs, will bring singing at smokers and other functions back into its ancient and proper place. McGill has needed this Song-Book badly for twenty years. Since 1895 all attempts at re-editing the Song-Book published in that year have proved abortive, and even the edition of 25 years ago was entirely the result of extra-mural efforts. Problems of finance to the Council have nearly always stood in the way, but last year the approaching advent of the Centenary Celebrations brought matters to a head. The result is the McGill University Song-Book of 1921.

Freshman-Sophomore Meet
Saturday—Lists Open.

Yesterday was the largest turnout for the track team that the Stadium has seen this year. This was in spite of the inclement weather. With a steady drizzle decorating the campus, the new men turned out in numbers even great enough to surpass those of the old timers who were present. Should numbers win the meet, the Freshmen have gained a flying start.

Due to the condition of the Stadium, there could be no definite opinion passed as to who surpassed in any particular event, and very little was done outside of general conditioning and warming up. The men who turned out yesterday will not have much advantage over those aspirants who turn out to-day for the first time. More men are urgently needed, and a man's chances of making a place on the team depends not on his performance at a meet a year ago, as on turning out at once and getting in shape for the year's meet. Moreover, college athletics is by no means glorified school meets, but means condition, training and more condition.

At the end of this week there takes place the first meet of the year—the Freshman-Sophomore. Now it is up to the Freshmen to turn out now and condition for that meet, as the time is exceptionally short this year. Unless they show up in a body at a time when a day's delay may mean a loss of points in the meet, they are increasing their chances of being trimmed in the very first contest of the year, Centennial year at that! As has been proved in the past, the hope of Freshman victory depends on numbers being entered and all points possible being picked up. They may be sure that few Sophs. entering have been working for their events beforehand.

Lack of experience in the past should not deter men from turning out. The track team has by no means been chosen, and there are opportunities in almost any event. The college has a capable coach, and if a man turns out at once and starts training, Van may be relied on to pick out good material and develop it, whether experienced or not.

The lists for entries in the Freshman-Sophomore meet are to be posted in the Stadium dressing rooms this afternoon. All men considering entering events the coming Saturday are asked to leave their names, faculty and year on the lists of each event they may enter. Entries may also be made at the porter's desk at the Union, in order to facilitate handling of the large entry expected. Men should enter at once if possible, as lists close by Thursday noon.

THE ORPHEUM.

The pen of George Du Maurier has depicted those scenes and delineated those charming characters of Tribly—characters with whom one seems to live when reading him, finding his way into the very souls of artists, living the life in the Latin Quarter of Paris, of which we hear so much and know so very little.

How much more, then, does one feel for and live with that famous author's creations upon actually seeing them, and hearing them for oneself.

Montreal is most fortunate this week in seeing with the Orpheum Players Wilton Lackaye, one of the most accomplished and popular of artists on America's stage to-day. The great actor revives the role of the sinister Svengali, the hypnotizing musician. With power of his eyes he binds to his bidding the soul of Tribly, turning the tone-deaf girl into a famous singer.

The theatre has spared no efforts in making the play successful and the efforts have brought success. We all know the story of "Tribly"—a modern classic—which, if art and the artist live, will always be modern.

It tells of Little Billie's love for Tribly, her devotion to him and her sacrifice, it cheers us with the color of comedy, of "The Three Musketeers" of the brush, Little Billie, Taffy and the Laird in the studio life, the leering Svengali, the tender Gecko, with his soul, filled with love and music, the cleric Bagot, and all—all artists, but all so very different.

The play's great strength lies in Mr. Lackaye's interpretation of Svengali. He holds his audience just as he holds his mesmerized victims. One is compelled to follow him.

Mr. Brickert, as Taffy, and Mr. De Guerre as "The Laird" are strong and sympathetic and paint for us the artist in all his glory. Irving Mitchell plays the part of Little Billie, and skilfully gives us the temperament and emotion of the youth of that day. Harvey Hays gives us, and pleases us with, Gecko, and brings before us the soul of the character by his rich clear voice.

Miss Mary Daniel lacks nothing in her Tribly. It is beautiful, it cheers us and lends the note of charm to the play.

Miss Mary Hill plays Madam Vinard and pleases us with her perfect delineation of the French, even to its enchanting accent and gesticulation.

The cleric, the Rev. Thomas Bagot, might easily be called the hub of the comedy. In that part Mr. Warwick Burland acts the clergyman of the time, of indeed any time, with an ease which is worthy of praise.

The rest of the cast is adequate. The musical programme is good—one cannot forget the song Ben Bolt. Next week, see them in "The Battle."

Fros: "Get out, you're fooling!"
Soph: "That's what the Dean said."
